

F

By Fruitnet Media International

Friday 21st August 2020, 10:57 GMT

Magazine apps keep you in touch

Don't wait any longer for the freshest coverage in the business! Download one of Fruitnet's brand new apps

Fruitnet's world-leading coverage of the fresh produce business is now available on your smartphone and tablet, thanks to its brilliant new apps.

Free to download, they offer a wealth of news, interviews and industry analysis that you can access online or download to read later.

You can easily scroll down and swipe between articles, or simply search the index for the content that interests you most.

The apps also allows you to share articles, search for keywords, and download editions you want to look through offline – including previous issues.

Plus, you can access all the latest news from our international team of reporters.

Fruitnet currently offers app versions of two regional titles – Eurofruit and Asiafruit – as well as the Fresh Produce Journal (covering the UK market) and Produce Plus (covering Australia and New Zealand).

These new user-friendly digital editions have been created by the same people behind apps developed for The Economist, GQ, The Independent, and other leading publications.

If you are a Eurofruit, Asiafruit, FPJ or Produce Plus subscriber, then you can already access the relevant digital content. Just grab the app from the App Store or Google Play, and log in.

If you are not yet a subscriber, just get in touch with our subscriptions team for more information: subscriptions@fruitnet.com

Don't wait any longer for the freshest coverage in the business!